First of all i would like to give hail to Govt. J. Thankima College Student's Union. We named the 18th Annual Megazine 2023-2024 as "Hnehtu".For the front cover i've put a "yellow rose" as i believe flower gives so much joy to human life which bought energy and which the energy bought strength and this strength help us go through every situation in our future.For the back cover the College Building picture was placed, you can see that different College website was also exposed in it.

For publishing this megazine the Assistant Megazine Editor K. Lalrindika put so much effort and his time in it,which I was amazed and so satisfied by his work. I also could not be greatful enough to the Megazine Teacher Incharge Lalmunsiami Khiangte, Assistant professor Department of English for all the support and encouragement she gave us. Most of all, i also am truly thankful to God for his guidance, for giving me wisdom and strength all the way while pursuing this megazine from day 1 till now. I'd also like to give my family a big applaud for all their support and caring as well.

I could not be able to mention enough endlessly, our respected Principal Professor J. V Nunchunga for his assistance which I will always be pleased. Furthermor I'd like to thank my Student's Union leader mate's for all their support in every needs.

Lastly, I'd like to address a sympathetic joy from the bottom of my heart to all the message writers, the article, poetry and report. It is you who the reason is for this success of the 18th Annual Megazine "Hnehtu".

To renowned Govt. J. Thankima College let's unite and cooperate together, let's try our best in our studies without despair and fight for it to conquer which I also my advice to all my fellow student mates. As our motto is "Soar High" let's tossed up to get more higher.

"Inside the magazine, if there is any kind of improper statement, I humbly ask for your understanding. Additionally, in the term that passed, the funds for magazine was limited, which mean we cannot produce plenty of magazines which we would loved to, and for that I also request your tender and kindly appreciation."

I can do all things through him who strengthens me.

ALL GLORY TO GOVT. J. THANKIMA COLLEGE.

MESSAGE

I am pleased to be writing a few words for the 18th College Annual Magazine 2023-20224 of Government J. Thankima College.

Dr. APJ Abdul Kalam once said, “To succeed in your mission, you must have a single- minded devotion to your goal. “Keeping in mind the scarcity of jobs due to our demographic dividend – do not narrow your minds to the traditional and conventional jobs, but be innovative and brave enough to venture into the private sector and entrepreneurship along with unconventional, non- governmental jobs. I urge you to identify your strengths and weaknesses, and to have a well laid – out plan for your future goals. With the fast – developing technology of today comes many distractions, from social media to e – games and the like. To be and activities so that you may have a laser – focus on your goals and thrive in all your future endeavours. As you may aware, our ministry aims to build a developed and corruption – free Mizoram, in an inclusive and sustainable manner. For achieving this, all possible efforts are being made to provide employment opportunities to the youth. At the same time, provided it is in line with your personal aspirations and circumstances – venture into the field of entrepreneurship, business and other innovative, non - conventional jobs so that you may contribute to the progress and thriving of our State. I encourage you to work hard and strive towards your goal, knowing that consistency is the key to success. Be faithful even in the little things in life, and maintain integrity when face with adversity, so that together we may build a reputable model community and State for the rest of the country.

I convey my best wishes to the students, faculty and administrative staff of Government J. Thankima College. May you succeed in your endeavours and continue to build an institution that is worthy of emulation.

PRINCIPAL

MESSAGE

I am happy to learn that Govt. J. Thankima College is yet publishing its 18th Annual Magazine 2023-2024. A College magazine serves as an important document and as such, is highly valuable.

In accordance with the UGC Regulations, I have been appointed as a Regular Principal by the Mizoram Public Service Commission (MPSC) in 2019. The tenure of a Principal is five years and therefore my time as a Principal is now exactly five years. Reflecting back on my time as a Principal, except for the first two years that was inconvenienced by the Covid-19 pandemic, actions and events went by smoothly. Although every work and actions may not be up to the mark, I am happy with my contributions made towards the College. It is indeed a pleasure to see the fruits of one's labour. It is through the guidance of God, the endless co-operation of my dear colleagues and the Students' Union leaders that I am able to achieve any success. I am immensely grateful to them.

Our College receives very little fund for the development of infrastructure and many efforts have been made without much success. I am deeply saddened to see that we still have to conduct classes in an Assam-type building. It is my dream that one day we will have better Campus where all classes will be conducted in an RCC building. Another big knot in my heart is the Faculty of Management and Geography Department. It is my sincere hope and dream that they are provided with better Service condition. They will, one day be provided as such.

I know I am not perfect and I urge you to see though my many weaknesses. I congratulate the students in preparing and bringing out a wonderful magazine and my blessings to all the readers for a better tomorrow.

WHISPERS OF THE GREEN

By: LALHMINGAMWIA
IV SEMESTER, DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH

In the lush of the verdant glade,
Where sunlight and shadows interplay.
Whispers of the green cascade,
In a symphony of life, they sway.

Leaves rustle and stories untold,
Of seasons change and time's embrace
A tapestry of nature's green and gold,
Unfold in nature, gentle grace.

Roots delve deep into the earth embrace,
While branches reach for the azure above
In every leaf, life intricate lace
Woven by a hand of love.

The brook babbles with a silver tongue,
A pebbles polished smooth by time.
Singing the songs that nature sung,
In a rhythm that feels sublime.

So take a moment to stand still,
And listen to the earth's soft tune.
For in nature presence, heart fill,
With the peace of a tranquil afternoon.

THE PERFECT BRIME

By: LILIAN LALDINTLUANGI
VI SEMESTER, DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH

It wasn't with knives
my heart he tore;
When he brought me
to death's door.

It wasn't his hands
that had me slain
But he had killed me
All the same.

Cold and collours

With no remorse;
Turned me to a
Walking corpse

And I am imprisoned
in this pain;
while he without the slightest blamefree to do it over again.

LALMUANAWMA
6th SEMESTER, HISTORY

I took a trip down the memory lane, stood open-mouthed watching my kaleidoscopic days of my stay in "the college"; home to thousands who left sweetened, hundreds in their prime to be sweetened and yet a thousands on their way to call this place "home". This is no ordinary place but a small world in all its wonders. Due to COVID-19, the first and second semesters of my batch were conducted online, and it was very challenging not to see anyone in person. For those living in remote areas, it was especially difficult due to poor signal quality, and they often had to struggle to take tests. This made the situation even more frustrating. Amidst these pandemic-related difficulties, the government eventually allowed offline classes to resume, so from the third semester onward, we started attending college in person.

On January 11, 2022, a friend informed me about an upcoming Basic Adventure Camp organized by Sport Department. This was my first program participation since starting college. Regular college sessions had resumed by then, and under the college adventure club, we attended another camp from June 6-9, 2022. Even those who were unfamiliar with each other joined the camp, and I got to know many of my classmates better through this experience.; I was mesmerized like that of an old man living on the breadline when a knight in shining armor came to the rescue of his starvation and finally fed him full. Time passed and we got accustomed to living the GJTC way of life. We were out and about for we've completed 2 years of adaptation in the college (Due to COVID-19, we couldn't attend the first and second semesters in person) Our bond of friendship became closely knitted.

The limit to the help we offer one another was like the extended hand that pulls a late arriver onto a moving train. The kind act witnessed in my childhood shaped my belief in the inherent goodness of human kind. The days worth remembering were the days the eruption of teenage temptations started. Conscience faded and ego grew stronger. Evil thoughts kicked in fast. Everything smelt like bachelor spirit. There were no known remedies to stop us from playing with fire. We were thirsty experiencing life with the dos and don'ts of life and the thirst were quenched only after the don'ts were accomplished. Our wings unfolded, adrenaline overflowed and the bachelor spirit strengthened, taking us to the peak of the pyramid of the trend of Kakpa Saba-ism. We were like "I don't care what you say anymore, this is my life! Go ahead with your own." We were halfway down the road to fools' paradise, blown with the wind; lost within the vanity of glitch and the glam. Such prejudice was born as a result of youths venturing into an uncharted brand new world with sane hands to hold onto. I laughed out loud remembering an incident of an argument with a male teacher that I found out he was right so I left (pun intended). Never would I get a place more advanced than our classroom where I can teleport from Brooklyn to Gaza, New York to London in a blink of an eye, to the Hollywood boulevard or up and down the Beverly Hills. It was only when I had got a louder shout out to my name, did I see that the teacher had on his deadliest stare looking for an eye contact then I realize I'm still in the classroom. When all the teachers resembled movie stars, classroom literally was the MGM Grand. Would not you be enlightened if you get to sit in class where Miss Janeti taught us Modern World History, Miss Beki taught us Contemporary World, Miss Chami taught us Modern India II, and Sir Changa taught us the History of Modern China. All the other teachers even if not mentioned here played an important role in our lives, teaching good from bad, right from wrong and most importantly making us understand "Life is not a bed of roses".

As we further travel down the road of the journey of life, we could not see the dead end which they say is "success" and started questioning ourselves "Are we travelling on a circular road?" only then I realize the devils have been pulling our strings like marionettes.

Adolescence almost took me over as destiny lied heavy on my conscience. Now we are at the peak of bachelor life where maturity only can resist us from being embarrassed and we are near the finish line of College life. This is the time we are least restrained of our liberties, the time we take things into our own hands. But the misery is the ones who chose wisely only gets benefited. Times have changed so had I switched from counting "Days left to graduate " to counting "Days left to stay", I started loving this place so much which few years back loved to hate it; started loving the teachers with whom I share mutual hate and whom I considered were gargoyles and never wanted to hear them speak. But it is not the same when I'm living on the edge.

Everything changed but the sun still sets in the west. I stared to feel deeply melancholic of the fact that after a month or so I will not be in a place where I'm surrounded by my friends and brothers who are happy disturbing one another; of the fact knowing that I will no longer be in the same classes with my classmates and my core group friends makes me feel sad. I will no more smell the scent of our college soil, hear the chaotic greetings of ultimate brotherhood, chirpings from the college campus birds and the complements from the junior loads. It's saddening to know the fact that never in my life again, just thinking about not being able to spend time with our friends at U Nui's restaurant while waiting for our class .

As I reach the end, I want my classmate and friends life to be filled with happiness and success. But what exactly is happiness? Bianca Sparacino once said 'You're going to realize it one day — that happiness was never about your job, or your degree, or being in a relationship. Happiness was never about following in the footsteps of all of those who came before you, it was never about being like the others.

One day, you're going to see it — that happiness was always about the discovery, the hope, the listening to your heart and following it wherever it chose to go. Happiness was always about being kinder to yourself, it was always about embracing the person you were becoming.

One day, you will understand. That happiness was always about learning how to live with yourself, that happiness was never in the hands of other people. It was always about you. It was always about you.

Don't try to fix the blame, fix the problem. If you are born and bred a human, humanize yourself. It is nice to be important but it is more important to be nice.

Be it the lofty heights of mountains or the mysterious depths of the oceans, vast expanse of the sky or closed confines of caves, I doubt I will ever find a place which provide rich treasure trove of memories to share with and learn from, to reminisce and dream on. Can't help but in this situation I'm not man enough as my fragile heart could not take the brittle emotions of leaving this haven. Pardon my madness, but I always say to myself - if we are to leave, I wish I never had come at all. I never thought, leaving a college might be this heavy. When I'm away, Govt J Thankima College will always remain a void hard to plug. Fare me well JTC...!

Abstract

Depression is a serious mood disorder characterised by constant feelings of anger, hopelessness, sadness, and anger that interfere with everyday activities. People always confuse sadness with depression. This paper study level of depression proneness among the students in Govt. J. Thankima College and also studied the level of depression proneness in terms of gender. It also studied level of depression proneness in terms of their latest academic achievements in Govt. J. Thankima College students. The present study found out that some students had above average depression proneness and male students had higher depression proneness level than female students in this college. Majority of students passed in second division in terms of their latest academic achievements.

Keyword: Level, Depression Proneness, Gender, Students, Academic Achievements, Govt. J. Thankima College.

Introduction.

A major mood illness called depression is characterized by persistent feelings of rage, hopelessness, sadness, and fury that interfere with day-to-day functioning. People frequently mistake melancholy for depression. Although depression is on the rise everywhere, in India it remains a quiet epidemic. People with mental diseases are highly stigmatized, and there is a dearth of knowledge on mental health. In the long run, this makes things difficult for everyone. Therefore, we are making every effort to help you comprehend this severe mental illness known as depression. Adolescence is the most crucial time in everyone's life in which most of them were attending secondary schools/high school. Based on their achievements throughout this era, the student's future is usually shaped. For this research, two high schools were chosen, and the depression propensity of their students was examined. It was intended that this result would highlight the true propensity of depression among high school students. This research suggested that in order to move forward, most high schools would gain from being aware of the study's conclusions.

Rationale of the Study

A college is an educational facility, or part of an educational facility. A college can be a secondary school, a branch of a federal or collegiate university, a postsecondary educational institution that offers degrees, a vocational education provider, or an institution of further education. Mizoram University accommodates thirty-six colleges. It is hardly surprising that Aizawl has the most colleges in Mizoram—roughly 21 total—than any other city. This suggests that over 58% of colleges are located in Aizawl City. The rate of depression among college students is rising. They often feel intense pressure to succeed while still developing necessary life skills (Bowe, 2023). Thus, to better understand where students stand on this issue, the researchers chose Govt. J. Thankima College, Aizawl.

Statement of the Problem

The problem under study can be stated as “Level of Depression Proneness Among the Students in Govt. J. Thankima College”.

Statistical Treatment

For analysis of the collected data, descriptive statistics like percentage frequency distribution and measures of central tendency were used. T-test was also employed to find out significance of difference.

Analysis and Interpretation of Data

Analysis and interpretation of data was done in accordance with the objectives as follows:

- (i) The total number and percentage of the level of depression proneness among Govt. J. Thankima College and Govt. Aizawl College are as shown in Table-1

Table – 1
Level of Depression Proneness among the students in Govt. J. Thankima College

Sl. No	Level of Depression Proneness	No. of Respondent	Percentage %
1	Extremely High Depression Proneness	0	0
2	High Depression Proneness	0	0
3	Above Average Depression Proneness	3	5 %
4	Average Depression Proneness	14	23.33 %
5	Below Average Depression Proneness	23	38.33 %
6	Low Depression Proneness	18	30 %
7	Extremely Low Depression Proneness	3	3.34 %
	Total	60	100%

Table 1 showed that 5% students in Govt. J. Thankima College had above average depression proneness. There are 23.33% students had average depression proneness meanwhile 38.33% students had below average depression proneness in Govt. J. Thankima College situated in Bawngkawn. 30% students also had low depression proneness and 3.34% students had extremely low depression proneness in Govt. J. Thankima College, Bawngkawn.

- (ii) Comparisons of the level of depression proneness between male and female students in Govt. J. Thankima College as shown in Table-2

Table – 2

Comparisons of the level of depression proneness between male and female students in Govt. J. Thankima College, Bawngkawn

Sl.No.	Level of Depression Proneness	No. & % of Respondent
		Male	Female
1	Extremely High Depression Proneness	0	0
2	High Depression Proneness	0	0
3	Above Average Depression Proneness	1(3.33%)	2(6.67%)
4	Average Depression Proneness	9(30%)	5(16.66%)
5	Below Average Depression Proneness	14(46.67%)	9(30%)
6	Low Depression Proneness	6(20%)	12(40%)
7	Extremely Low Depression Proneness	0	2(6.67%)
Total		30(100%)	30(100%)

Table – 2 shows that comparisons of the level of depression proneness between male and female students in Govt. J. Thankima College. Male students had highest percentage in below average depression proneness while female had highest percentage in low depression proneness level in this college. There is no student in extremely high depression proneness and high depression proneness level.

- (iii) Significance of differences between male and female students in Govt. J. Thankima College, Bawngkawn as shown in Table-3

Table – 3
Significance of differences between male and female students in Govt. J. Thankima College

		Male	Female
Mean		71.53	66.83
S.D		14.058	16.484

SE.D		2.566
t-value		1.188
df		59
Significant 2tailed	0.01 level	NS	NS
	0.05 level	NS	NS

The calculated 't'-value was greater than the critical 't'-value. Hence, the null hypothesis was accepted. It was inferred that there existed no significant difference in Govt. J. Thankima College Students in the levels of depression proneness on the basis of gender. Furthermore, a look at the mean value of the both gender in college students revealed that male students, with a mean value of 71.53 had a higher value. Thus, it can be concluded that male students showed more depression proneness in Govt. J. Thankima College, Bawngkawn.

- (iv) The total number and percentage of the level of depression proneness among the students in Govt. J. Thankima College in terms of their latest academic achievements as shown in Table-4.

Table – 4

Thankima College students in Bawngkawn. 50% had Below Average Depression Proneness and 50% had Low Average Depression Proneness in Govt. J. Thankima College students who have done their last examination in distinction. Majority of students passed in second division within this 6% had Above Average Depression Proneness, 24% also had Average Depression Proneness whereas 43% had Below Average Depression Proneness in their last Academic Performance.

- (v) Level of depression proneness between male and female students in terms of their latest academic achievements in Govt. J. Thankima College as shown in Table-5

Table-5

Majority of male and female students in Govt. J. Thankima College students passed their last examination in the second division. There are 7% above average depression proneness students in male and female whereas low depression proneness students were also found in both categories of students in this college. Lowest percentage of students was found in the division of distinction. Among them, 100% male had low and 100% female had below average depression proneness in their latest academic achievements.

Discussion

According to this study, Govt. J. Thankima College students are not in a poor situation in terms of their susceptibility to depression. But there are some reasons to be concerned. One major worry is that there are still college students who have above-average levels of depression susceptibility. As a result, we must investigate the root of this issue and devise a plan to address the factors that lead to depression in college students. The fact that male students are more likely than female students to experience depression is another reason for concern. For this reason, in order to help male students overcome their sadness, we need to create more awareness programs.

Conclusion

Depression is a prevalent mental health issue characterized by a depressed mood and a diminished interest in activities. In addition to their academic performance, college students must take mental health education courses to manage their stress and despair. During their time in college, students used to encounter a lot of issues they had never encountered before. Their families, professors, classmates, societies, studies, and other sources of pressure and stress are more. Therefore, for college students' mental health to improve, the government and institutions must act. Future levels of depression proneness may decline if higher authorities complete this for the students.

NATURE

ROBERT LALREM RUATA
2ND SEMESTER, SECTION B

In the soft embrace of nature's arms
As leaves whisper secrets to the wind
And fragrant blooms dance in gentle charms
A sense of peace, it gently sends.

Beneath the canopy of towering trees
Where sunlight filters, casting golden rays
A symphony of songs, the birds appease
In this tranquil haven, my spirit sways.

By whispering waters, clear and bright
Where pebbles shimmer, a soothing sound
My mind finds respite, burdens light
As worries vanish, I'm heaven-bound.

In nature's tranquil embrace, I rest
Rejuvenated, my soul finds its rest
My heart skips a beat as I glance at you.
Your presence alone makes my world a vibrant ride.
Your eyes, a mirror to a soul so bright,
Reflect a kindness that fills me with delight.
Your smile, like a north star, guiding me through the night.

My love grows stronger with every glance i make.
I pen these words, a secret verse untold,
For in my dreams, our love story is a tale to unfold.

Like the prince who awakens Snow White with a kiss,
I yearn for a moment, a chance to share my joy.
And paint a portrait of love for you, crystal clear.

Until that day arrives, I'll cherish my secret,
As a flame flickering within, forever burning for you.
And though our paths may cross without a sign,
My heart will forever hold you, my Snow White, divine.

My heart skips a beat as I glance at you.
Your presence alone makes my world a vibrant ride.
Your eyes, a mirror to a soul so bright,
Reflect a kindness that fills me with delight.
Your smile, like a north star, guiding me through the night.

My love grows stronger with every glance i make;
For in my dreams, our love story is a tale to unfold.

Like the prince who awakens Snow White with a kiss,
I yearn for a moment, a chance to share my joy.
And paint a portrait of love for you, crystal clear.

Until that day arrives, I'll cherish my secret,
And though our paths may cross without a sign,

I too have feel unwanted and misunderstood,
I have seen the plain looking nature of man.

If you think you are aware,
You should learn that life is pain.
Everyone in some way or another experiences a kind of Pain.
We must feel the pain of others
And Understand their struggle.

WHAT IS LIFE WITHOUT HUMANITY?

Life is not easy, and so are we
You must learn to open your heart,

3am on my own bed
Eyes seems open wider
Mind never at ease
No sound to hear but the riding big truck

Sleep, sleep, beautiful soul
You're as tense and tired
Get rest and wake
When daytime comes, feel the light "Flesh and bones".

Oh "thought" have some clemency
Mercy me and lay me
Skip the night, so for shake
Of those Stars upon the head in the sky.

Worry me not, so redeem
Get down my heavy load.
Or least change as "feathers"
And you'd be easy for me to bear

Sound of my own mingled mind
Jingling me round my head.
Like, wait for me to collapse. But please, fade away
Like smoke on the air.

The lightest touch Soft as a feather.
Her hand in mine,
As we run through rainy weather;
She's mine, she's really mine.

Cause she, she means everything to me,
And she She's given me the key.
Whisper in your ear,
Picnics and wine under the stars.
Pretty lights and midnight skies,
Prettier girl with ocean eyes,
She's mine, Oh she's mine.

My heart starts to race.
And I know its getting better,
Think of her alone.
No one else to give us pressure,
We're alright I think its time.

Heart racing,
Her smile means my nerves are fading.
Bright eyes,
She tell me how you're really feeling,
She's sending shivers down my spine its a sign.
